MOTHER AND BABE.
Nature is cruel and visits upon mother and babe alike the results of the mother's neglect of her own health. It is an oft-told tale—the mother dies in the agony of child-birth, and in a few short months the sweet babe follows her to the cemetery.

If women will only learn, and teach their daughters, the supreme importance of keeping the distinctly feminine organism in a perfectly vigorous and healthy condition, this ever-recurring tragedy will soon be a story of the past. If women who suffer from weakness and disease of these delicate organs will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., they will learn that in order to recover and maintain their health in this respect, it is not generally necessary to submit to the humiliating examinations and local applications insisted upon by physicians. In writing confidentially to Dr. Pierce, a woman places her case, without charge, in the hands of an eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years' chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y.—one of the leading medical institutions in the world with a staff of nearly a score of eminent practitioners. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Honest druggists recommend it instead of urging a substitute for a little extra profit.

I have been a great sufferer from female diseases, writes Mrs. C. C. Clark, of New Rome, Fla., Ga. "I was confined to my bed three years. Nine bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription completely cured me."

Good temper is largely a matter of good health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy action of the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speedy, and once taken do not have to be taken again. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe, druggists sell them.

WE are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. Charles G. Lennon.

EARLY VIRGINIA HISTORY.
THE KNIGHTS OF THE GOLDEN HORSE
SHOE CONCLUDED. "SIC JUVAT TRANSCENDERE MONTES."
No. 13.

"September 3d.—About eight we were on horseback and about ten we came to a thicket so tightly laced together that we had a great deal of trouble to get through. Our baggage was injured, our clothes torn all to rags and the saddles and holsters also torn. About five of the clock we encamped almost at the head of James river just below the great mountains. We called this camp Col. Robertson's Camp. We made all this day but eight miles.

"September 4th.—We had two of our men sick with measles and one of our horses poisoned by a rattlesnake. The sides of the mountains were so full of vines and brambles that we were obliged to clear most of the way before us; crossed one of the small mountains on this side of the Appalachians and from the top had a fine view of the plains below. Killed a number of rattlesnakes. Pitched our tents on the James river where a man could jump across it. Called this Rattlesnake Camp. Had made five miles.

"September 5th.—Were mounted at five. Followed the windings of the James in the tracks of the axeman. Killed two rattlesnakes. About one o'clock we came to the source of the river where it ran from under a great rock no larger than a man's arm. Had made four miles and a half. Near to this fountain we found another, which ran in an opposite direction down the other side of the mountain. We followed this stream until we came to the opposite valley and continuing on, found a river (Shenandoah) where we camped at night. This day made fourteen miles. We saw when we were over the mountains the tracks of elk and buffaloes and their beds. Ate very good wild grapes. We called this Spotswood's camp after our governor.

"September 6th.—We crossed the river (Shenandoah) which we called Euphrates. It is very deep; the main course of the water is north; it is four-score yards wide in the narrowest part. We drank some healths on the other side and returned. The governor had graveyards, but could not find any thing, the rocks were so hard. He buried a bottle with a paper enclosed, stating that he took possession of the place in the name of King George First of England."

The course of the knights from Germania had been westerly and mainly through the territory now included within the limits of the counties of Orange and Greene. They crossed over Mine and Mountain runs and the Rappahannock at Somersville ford near Clark's mountain—then skirting its western bank for some miles they recrossed it near the railroad from Culpeper to Orange Courthouse, thence kept on within a few miles of the Rapidan over the bottoms of Poplar, Blue, Marsh and Big runs, and the south branch of the Rapidan and Conway rivers—then, after a few miles recrossed the Conway and doubled back to Price's mountain. Thence they kept on to Swift Run Gap, leading through the Blue Ridge. They celebrated the success of their expedition by erecting the national flag and arms and lighting immense fires on the summit of the mountain. Around these they made merry and jovial over their ample store of wines and other exhilarating potations. From their old flint-lock muskets they fired volleys which woke the echoes of the dense wilderness and wild crags surrounding them. They feasted on steaks of bear and venison, drank loyal toasts to the monarch of old England and the rest of the royal family; and doubtless they whiled away the weird hours singing the old time songs and rehearsing stories of their varied life experiences in the home land so far beyond the seas. Nearly all of them had been through circumstances of great peril and danger. Some of them had been soldiers fighting under Marlborough at Blenheim, Ramilies, Louvain, and other battles. Some had been with Admiral Rooke at the siege of Gibraltar.

The knights did not advance beyond the valley of the Shenandoah. The object of their errand had been accomplished, and they returned to their respective settlements on the James, the York and the Rappahannock; but the rangers who had accompanied them pushed on and explored the country for many miles beyond, and but a very few years elapsed before daring settlers from the tide waters were following fast in their tracks to take possession of the lands to which they had opened the way.

This expedition was not one of long and wearisome toil. It was not one of dangers and perils. It had no circumstances of chivalry, religion, or superstition to weave around it a halo of splendor. Only the circumstances of curiosity and discovery lent it prestige. But it was one of the important events in the great plan of destiny; and it has furnished a page of romance for Virginia history which will always have a fascination for, and will command the admiration of every student who delights to trace the beginnings and the growth of empire, and the opening of the ways of human progress.

In commemoration of this early expedition, Governor Spotswood afterwards instituted the "Trans Montane Order," composed of the fifty knights of the cavalade. Fifty miniature golden horsebuses were made, set with gems and inscribed with the legend, "Sic juvat transcendere montes"—thus he swears to cross the mountains. Some of these interesting mementoes have been handed down as heirlooms among the descendants of the knights. When Spotswood made a treaty with the five nations of Indians at Albany in 1722, in which they bound themselves not to pass the Potomac or the Blue Ridge, except as friends, the governor told the natives they must take particular notice of their speaker and gave to the great chief one of the shoes which he was to wear on his breast and bade the interpreter tell him that there was an inscription on it which would help him to pass the mountains, and that if any of their people should come to Virginia, on missions of peace, they must bring it with them. These things are like dreams to us now. With a population which has not only passed the barriers at the Blue Ridge, but the Alleghenies and Rocky Mountains as well, and reached the Golden Gate of California on the far Pacific coast of our great continent, it is difficult for us to realize that only 180 years ago the little settlement at Germania, on the Rapidan, was a frontier post, and the great West an unknown world, except to the wild Indian whose trails once as numerous as the streams and the hills, have vanished forever before the resistless advance of the pale faces. W. H. S.

A Clever Trick.
It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 25c a bottle at E. L. Allen's Drug Store.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide awake drug firm of Meyers & Eschleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eschleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave so good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Sold by J. H. Janney, Druggist, 701 King Street.

A thrill of terror is experienced when a hoarse cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children. Charles G. Lennon

THE SUCCESSFUL REMEDY FOR NASAL CATARRH

Must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action reach the inflamed and diseased surfaces.

ELY'S CREAM BALM combines the important requisites of quick action and specific curative powers with perfect safety to the patient. This agreeable remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. All druggists cheerfully acknowledge that in the name of pharmaceutical skill has been reached. The most distressing symptoms quickly yield to it. In acute cases the Balm imparts almost instant relief.

BY ABSORPTION.
Catarrhal sufferers should remember that Ely's Cream Balm is the only catarrh remedy which is quickly and thoroughly absorbed by the diseased membrane. It does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a limpid and colorless condition, and finally to a natural and healthy character.

The Balm can be found at any drug store, or by sending 50 cents to Ely Brothers, 56 West 6th Street, New York, it will be mailed. Full directions with each package.

Cream Balm opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays inflammation, thereby stopping pain in the head, heals and protects the membrane and restores the senses of taste and smell. The Balm is applied directly into the nostrils. mh18 1m
